Capt. Edgar Jadwin, of the United States Army, accompanied Capt. Jack Mellen, of the Colorado Steam Navigation company, to Kingman Wednesday last and together the gentlemen have gone to Temple Bar, whence they will go down the Colorado river in a row boat to the Gulf of California. They had with them several Mohave Indians who are thoroughly acquainted with every foot of the murky stream. Capt. Jadwin has been detailed by the government to make this trip for the purpose of ascertaining the actual conditions that exist along the river and if it is feebly navigable. If his report condemns the river it is believed that great dams will be put in at Bulls Head, Mohave Canyon, Parker and many other places above Yuma for the purpose of reclaiming the hundreds of thousands of acres of fertile lands along the mesas and river bottoms. Capt. Mellen stated that in his opinion the dam at Bulls Head was sure to be constructed and that work upon it would be under way in less than a year. It appeared to be his opinion that the dams would back the water up in such a manner that small steamers would be able to navigate the stream for a long distance above each dam without difficulty and that arrangements for the portage of freight would be required at each of these dams. Capt. Jadwin, who will make the examination and report his findings to the department, is one of the brightest engineers in the service and is now in charge of the construction of the great breakwater at San Pedro. It is expected by the knowing ones that the Colorado river will be condemned by him as a navigable stream and that under the arid land act Arizona and California is to receive the benefit of one of the greatest irrigation systems in the world.

W. T. Lewis, of Racine, Wisconsin, and A. H. Fixen, of Los Angeles, president and secretary, respectively, of the Yucca Cyanide Mining and Milling company, paid the MINER office a pleasant visit Thursday last. They were returning from a visit to the San Francisco mine and were accompanied to Kingman by Mr. Waterhouse and Capt. W. T. Hall, of Philadelphia.

The Miners' Union of Gold Road is to dedicate its new hall at that place this evening and invitation are out for a big dance in honor of the affair. This afternoon many Kingman people are going out to take part in the affair.

Kean St. Charles has introduced a measure appropriating 10,000$ for the purpose of sinking an artesian well in this county. The bill coming in so late in the session has little chance for passage, although it is a good one.

G. C. Davis and wife have gone to Burro Creek, where Mr. Davis will complete the discovery work on several of the mining claims recently located by himself and others. They will be gone about a month.

Parties in from that section report that the Billy Mack mines, near Parker, are showing up wonderfully rich in gold and copper values. Mr. Mack is working a force of men on the mines.

Major W. A. Mensch, who has been very ill for a month past, departed Sunday evening last for Los Angeles, where he will place himself under the care of physicians.

J. P. Finegan, merchant of Chloride, was in Kingman several days this week settling up some important business matters, in which he was successful.

S. C. Bagg, manager of the New Comstock mines, came in from Los Angeles Monday morning and departed for the mines the same day.

Children's Coughs and Colds.

Mrs. Joe McGrath, 327 E. 1st St., Hutchison, Kan., writes: "I have given Ballard's Horehound Syrup to my children for coughs and colds for the past four years, and find it the best medicine I ever used." Unlike many cough syrups, it contains no opium, but will soothe and heal any disease of the throat or lungs quicker than any other remedy. 25c, 50c and 1$ at H. H. Watkins' drugstore.

Fred Pomeroy Meets Death in Enterprise Shaft.

Last Monday morning while descending the ladder to work in the Enterprise shaft Fred. A. Pomeroy was suddenly seized by an attack of heart failure, or lost his hold on the ladders and was precipitated to the bottom of the shaft over one hundred feet below. At a depth of eighty feet he went through an open trap in a platform, his body striking the door and closing it after him. The unfortunate man's head was crushed in a terrible manner, the whole force of contact with the bottom of the shaft evidently being on the head. His partner, Tim Harrington, was going down the ladder below Pomeroy and when about fifteen feet from the surface the latter laughingly said: "If I fall, catch me, Tim," and almost instantly fell backward from the ladder. Harrington descended to the bottom as fast as possible and found Fred struggling to get upon his feet. There was a small amount of water in the bottom and his face was in the water. Harrington raised him up and rang for the bucket. He tied the injured man in the bucket and ascended the shaft with it. On the surface the injured man made a terrible struggle to get on his feet, but was unable to do so. He lived one hour and fifteen minutes and just before breathing his last he raised both hands and pressed them to his forehead, took a long breath and was dead. Cal. Wilson, who had charge of the mine, hearing of the injury of Pomeroy saddled his horse and came to town for a doctor. The distance of twenty miles was made in a little over an hour. Dr. Ealy was called up and within ten minutes they were on their way back. Fred was dead when they arrived and they took the body back to Kingman, where it was taken in charge by the Knights of Pythias. It was found that his skull was fractured in three places and below the right shoulder was a great bruise, where he had evidently struck against the trap door.

Tuesday afternoon the funeral took place under the auspices of the Knights of Pythias from the M. E. church, Rev. Decker, a member of the order, preached the funeral sermon and his remarks left few dry eyes in the little edifice. A pathetic scene was the unrestrained grief of a great number of school children, with whom Fred had been a great favorite. The little church was filled to overflowing by the friends of the deceased. A great wreath and triangle of flowers decorated the coffin. After the service at the church the cortege wended its way to the little grave yard, where the beautiful burial service of the order was read and all that was mortal of Fred Pomeroy was committed to the earth, there to remain until that great day when all men shall be called to final judgment.

Fred A. Pomeroy was born in the little village of Dacota, Alameda county, California, on the 7th day of November, 1875, and removed with his parents to Gila Bend, in this territory, when about ten years of age. After the death of his father in 1893 he, with his mother went to Los Angeles, where he took a business course in one of the colleges. The following year his mother and members of the family returned to Gila Bend, but it was but a short time until the mother died, leaving three boys and one girl to fight the battles of life alone. The brothers and sister were sent to an aunt in Los Angeles and Fred, in company of Henry Lang, struck out to find work. After months of hardships they arrived in Kingman and, having secured employment, made this place their home. When the war with Spain broke out Fred A. Pomeroy was one of the first to offer his services to the government and became a member of Roosevelt's gallant band of Rough Riders, being assigned to Major McClintock's division. He was at the battle of La Guisima and San Juan Hill. After that famous battle he was several months in the hospital suffering from yellow fever and when he returned to Kingman nearly a year after, he was in poor health. The people of our little town welcomed his return with open arms and he was made the recipient of an ovation at the town hall that any hero returning from the wars might well be proud of. There he was presented with a beautiful watch, to the purchase of which nearly every person, including the children, had contributed. He was a noble fellow, warm hearted and generous to a degree. Left alone in the world when but a boy he had overcome all obstacles and made of himself a man among men. He was soon to be wedded to a most estimable young lady, and to her and the brothers and sister the sympathy of the community is extended. Not in the history of the town has a death been so grievously felt by the people. Among his brothers in the order of Knights of Pythias his place cannot be filled. May the bright sunlight of heaven radiate his grave and light the way to that heaven of peace in which all true Knights believe.

Funeral of Paul Maguire.

Last Sunday afternoon the funeral of Paul Maguire took place from the M. E. Church and never in the history of Kingman was such a crowd congregated to pay the last tribute of respect to the dead. Deceased had been one of the community for so long and was so well liked by all that it seemed more like a big family mourning over the death of a beloved relative. Not one half of the people could gain access to the church, every available space being occupied. All the conveyances in town were pressed into service and even then hundreds had to walk to the burial grounds. The service at the church and grave was most impressive. Great floral tributes covered the coffin, almost hiding the casket of death from view. No greater tribute to the worth of the deceased could have been paid than that great crowd of people mingling their grief with the stricken relatives.

Grounds-Starkey Wedding.

Last Wednesday, at high noon, Ila T. Grounds and Miss Minnie Starkey were wedded at the home of the bride, on South Third street, Rev. W. G. Blakely performing the ceremony. Miss Vina Starkey and W. F. Grounds, Jr., were maid and groomsmen. The young couple have lived in Mohave county all their lives and have a wide circle of friends. The wedding was a quiet affair, only relatives and intimate friends of the family being present. After the ceremony an enjoyable dinner was served. The rooms were artistically decorated with flowers and evergreens. The young couple departed on the evening train for Fresno, where they will make their future home.

E. F. Thompson departed for San Francisco last Monday evening, where he is looking after some important business matters and at the same time having his hand attended to by a specialist. A year ago he cut his hand on a carbide of calcium can and the wound never healed. The hand has been somewhat troublesome and it was concluded that it was best to have it examined and treated by a specialist.

While going down the shaft of the Queen Bee mine early this morning at Mineral Park, George Aitken, the foreman, slipped and fell a distance of ten feet. He was brought into Chloride on a stretcher and is bruised considerably and skinned up about the head and shoulders, but his injuries are not considered serious. Mr. Aitken has been mining in this territory for more than twenty years and this is his first accident.

A. W. Wells, father of Mrs. Will E. hom, died at his home in Los Angeles on the tenth of this month. Mr. Wells was a resident of this county for a number of years.

G. W. Koster, who has been in charge of the affairs of the White Hills Company for a few months past, came to Kingman last Saturday.

A Physician Writes.

"I am desirous of knowing if the profession can obtain Herbine in bulk for prescribing purposes? It has been of great use to me in treating cases of dyspepsia brought on by excesses or overwork. I have never known it to fail in restoring the organs affected, to their healthful activity." 50c bottle at H. H. Watkins, druggist.

F. C. SMITH,
KINGMAN, ARIZONA.

The eight hour law was signed by Gov. Brodie a few days ago and will become a law within ninety days. It refers only to miners employed below ground. The operation of the law affects only small mine operators, the big companies now having an eight-hour day in operation. Many of the southern newspapers of both parties object to the law and claim that it will seriously effect future investments in the mines of the territory.

M. F. (Tobe) Wilkinson was married a few days ago to an estimable young lady in Los Angeles. His numerous friends in this county wish him all manner of good luck.

J. T. Pollock, of the Arizona Central Bank, was a Kingman visitor this week.

Danger of Colds and Grip.

The greatest danger from colds and grip is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure a cold or an attack of the grip in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by H. H. Watkins.

Amendment to the Articles of Incorporation OF THE Yucca Cyanide Mining and Milling Company.

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS:

That I, W. T. Lewis, President of the Yucca Cyanide Mining and Milling Company, do hereby certify that at a Special Meeting of the stockholders of said Company, duly called and noticed, as by the terms of the by-laws of said Company provided, held at the San Francisco mine, Mohave County, Arizona, on Tuesday, the 10th day of March, 1903, at 9 o'clock A. M., of that day, whereas stockholders present, in person or by proxy, holding and representing 1,249 2/3 shares of the entire outstanding stock, on that day, of said Company, of 666,330 shares, were present, the Articles of Incorporation were amended by resolutions of said stockholders adopted by vote of more than two-thirds of all the outstanding stock of said Company, as follows, to-wit:

First: Article IV of said Articles of Incorporation was amended so as to read as follows:

"The amount of capital stock authorized by said corporation is, and shall be, $5,000,000.00, to be divided into 5,000,000 shares, of the par value of $1.00 per share; and the times when, and the conditions upon which it is to be paid in are as follows:

"The stock issued must be fully paid for in cash or property or labor upon issuance, and shall thereafter be non-assessable for any purpose whatever."

Second: Article VII of said Articles of Incorporation was amended so as to read as follows:

"Each stockholder of this corporation at all elections for directors shall have the right to vote in person, or by proxy, the number of shares owned by him, as given on the books of the Company, for as many persons as there are to be elected."

Articles of Incorporation

OF

The Frontier Exploration Company.

Know all men, by these presents, That the undersigned have associated themselves together for the purpose of forming a corporation under the laws of the Territory of Arizona, and we do hereby certify as follows:

First: That the names of the incorporators are, JOSEPH H. BOHON, EDWARD F. HOLLIDAY, EDWARD S. GRAHAM, HARVEY H. DURYEE and HENRY B. ELY. The name of the corporation shall be the Frontier Exploration Company, and its principal place of transacting business shall be at Kingman, Mohave County, Arizona, with a branch office at Redlands, California, and such other places in the United States of America, or elsewhere, as the Board of Directors of said Company may from time to time designate, where meetings of the stockholders and meetings of Directors may be held as provided in the by-laws of said company.

Second: The general nature of the business proposed to be transacted is to conduct the business of mining for gold and other metals, and to operate mines and mineral claims; to hold, purchase and locate mineral and other lands; to erect and operate smelters, mills, refineries and other works for reducing and treating ores and minerals; to hold and control Letters Patent and inventions relating to and incident to mining, milling, smelting and reduction of ores and minerals; to carry on and conduct a general mercantile business; to acquire, construct and operate railroads, tramways, turnpikes and canals leading from the principal works or place of business of said corporation to some navigable stream or to some existing railroad, turnpike or public highway; to acquire by purchase or otherwise, and to sell, lease, mortgage and improve real estate; to buy, sell and hypothecate the stocks and bonds of corporations formed for any purpose, and other personal property; to own and manage hotels, stores and other places of business; to irrigate, cultivate and farm lands, and to do a general agricultural business, and to develop lands, water, oil, electricity, and other products.

Third: The amount of capital stock authorized shall be one hundred thousand shares of the par value of ten dollars each. The said stock shall be issued only for cash, or its equivalent in property or rights conveyed to said company, or for services in behalf of said company, and when issued shall be forever non-assessable. Fifty thousand shares of said stock shall be subscribed and paid in upon the organization of this company.

Fourth: The corporation shall commence upon the filing of its articles with the Secretary of the Territory of Arizona, and shall continue for twenty-five years. The affairs of the corporation are to be conducted by a Board of five Directors who shall be elected at the annual meeting of the stockholders in each year, and until such election the undersigned shall act as Directors.

Fifth: The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which the corporation is at any time to subject itself shall be the sum of one hundred thousand dollars. ($100,000)

Sixth: The private property of the stockholders of the corporation shall be exempt from corporate debts.

These articles of incorporation may be amended by a vote of the holders of three-fifths of the capital stock issued and outstanding at any regular meeting of the stockholders called for that purpose.

Witness our hands and seals this fifth day of February, 1903.
